

Basic Horticulture Courses in Scotland

Overview of Courses Compiled November 2009

There are many levels and types of horticulture qualifications available in Scotland and they come in many forms:

Informal /Short courses

City & Guilds Qualification

SVQ Qualifications;

Undergraduate & Post Graduate study

Student Centred Courses with awards.

Course Finder Tools

Because of the diverse range of horticultural courses available and the variety of course providers and methods of delivery it may be useful to use an online course finding tool e.g. For example:

Careers Scotland provides a search tool for courses:

<http://www.careers-scotland.org.uk/Education/CourseSearch/Courses.asp>

LANTRA, the sector skills council for the environment and land based sector, provide an online search tool for finding training courses on their web pages at

<http://www.lantracoursefinder.co.uk/DefaultNew.aspx>

You can also use course finder by sending your query to the Lantra CourseFinder team at: coursefinder@lantra.co.uk; or speaking to a person, not a machine by calling 0845 707 8007, Monday – Friday 9.00am – 5.00pm

Hot Courses provides a search for courses at all levels:

<http://www.hotcourses.com/community/homePage.jsp?x=16180339&y=&a=0>

A useful searchable list of short (and longer) horticulture courses is available on:

<http://www.bbc.co.uk/gardening/htbg2/gofurther/scotland/index.shtml>

Many courses may not be listed online especially those that are demand-led or short courses provided by local authorities, community and adult learning organisations. See local Council web pages for contacts in these areas.

Informal and Short Horticultural Courses

Many informal and short courses are provided by a variety of organisations from local gardening groups to colleges; national societies; and local authorities (through local community and adult learning organisations). Many adult learning courses (usually run by local councils) include gardening as an optional course and many further education colleges include gardening/garden design as an evening class. There are also voluntary sector lifelong learning organisations such as WEA, which run short courses, often including gardening. Several short (and longer) courses are listed at:
<http://www.bbc.co.uk/gardening/htbg2/gofurther/scotland/index.shtml>

Organic Gardening Courses

In addition to local colleges, some specialist training centres offer horticultural SVQ qualifications, e.g.

Parklea Branching Out, Port Glasgow

<http://www.parkleaassociation.org.uk/training.html>. Here is what they say about it "SVQ Level 1 Horticulture is at a basic level and is achievable for most with a bit of effort. We deliver it to our clients with learning disabilities no problem. Level 2 is different and aimed at people who are able to manage their own portfolio development. We hope to offer this to volunteers, young people and clients who we consider capable of achieving it. It is a good step up from level 1. Each candidate would need to commit two but preferably three days per week for between 6 - 9 months for both levels."

Colleges and Institutions offering Gardening Courses

Local further education colleges may provide a variety of formal and informal gardening courses including full-time, part-time and leisure classes. Many colleges also offer student centred gardening courses which may be of benefit to students with particular educational, social or health needs such as those with physical and learning difficulties; mental health issues etc. Please see the next section entitled 'Student Centred Awards' for further information.

Listed below is a selection of colleges and institutions offering gardening courses. This is not an exhaustive list and is meant to be illustrative. Please contact individual local colleges for up to date information on courses:

Student Centred Awards

Gardening courses can be adapted to suit many types of students. Many colleges and gardening groups cater for those with specific needs such as physical, mental health or learning difficulties or health and social inequalities. These types of courses or working groups are often not apparent from searching on college web pages and it is best to make specific enquiries about these types of courses. Charitable organisations specialising in working with people with specific needs may also facilitate gardening groups who subscribe to people centred award schemes, so it is worthwhile contacting local and national charitable groups. Listed below are some student centred awards schemes and scheme users that that we are aware of, there will certainly be more going on in local communities across the country.

Royal Caledonian Horticulture Society

RCHS Recognition of Individual Achievement in Horticulture – student centred, based on individual learning plans developed from individual needs. It offers a programme of core horticultural activities and a menu of further optional activities linked to gardening with assessment by a record of feedback.

Contact Margaret Teale at Margaret.Teale@blueyonder.co.uk, 0131 449 6596.

Parklea Branching Out, Port Glasgow

<http://www.parkleaassociation.org.uk/training.html>

Have a full programme developed for the RCHS Award, and are willing to help others with their own development of the award. This can only be offered to those who would not be able to attain level 1 Horticulture City & Guilds Qualification.

Dundee College

Dundee College offers it's 'Gardening for all' and horticulture programmes in several specialist initiatives within and outwith the college. Working in partnership with SAMH, NHS Tayside, Social Work Department and community groups, students with physical and learning difficulties and mental health issues work towards SVQ's in horticulture

Towards Independence

http://www.asdan.org.uk/towards_independence.php

Towards Independence offers formal recognition for small steps in achievement towards a larger goal. Modules can be used separately and accumulated to build a record of personal achievements. These types of Towards Independence courses are often run by local colleges. There are almost 50 modules to choose from, and the first of these - Starting Out - is mandatory. This module enables learners to be helped to recognise achievements and plan targets and challenges, which can then be developed through further modules. The modules can be divided into themes and many of the modules can fit into more than one themed area e.g.

Independent Living Skills	Everyday Living*; Independent Living; Meal Preparation & Cooking; Money; Using Transport
Personal Development/Citizenship/PSHE	Knowing About Myself; Citizenship; Relationships; Multi-sensory Experiences*; Coping With People; Getting Ready To Go Out; Getting To Know A Group; Myself and Others*; Self Advocacy; Out In The Community; Recognising And Using Everyday Signs
Work Related	Vocational Training/Experience; Going To College; Horticulture; Personal Safety; Practical Workshop; Using a Computer; Using ICT*; Work Awareness; World Of Work*; Time Management & Self Organisation; Animal Care (including Horse Riding and Stable Management); Business Enterprise

WorkSkills Courses

WorkSkills is a flexible suite of BTEC qualifications suitable for learners of all ages and at all stages of their working lives. WorkSkills builds on the ABC of employability - Attitude, Behaviour and Communication - to develop the skills that employers are looking for and to give learners an edge in a competitive climate.

<http://www.edexcel.com/QUALS/WORKSKILLS/ABOUT/Pages/default.aspx>

For Example, Moray College offers gardening as part of an independence skills course.<http://www.moray.ac.uk/moray-college/what/course-detail.php?course=32>
